

F921®:

Advanced Double-Wall Aboveground Storage Tanks

The F921 aboveground storage tank, built the Watco Way, features a robust double-wall steel design, providing built-in, testable interstitial monitoring and impermeable secondary containment. This design ensures uncompromising performance, reliability, and economy. Complete with STICO Mutual's 30-year limited warranty.

F921 Advantages:

- Compliance and safety: Meets UL 142 standards for steel aboveground tanks for flammable and combustible liquids.
- Integral secondary containment: The double-wall design provides built-in, impermeable secondary containment, meeting EPA SPCC requirements.
- Leak detection: A testable interstitial space allows for continuous leak detection monitoring.
- Versatility: Available in horizontal and vertical designs, with capacities of up to 35,000 gallons.
- Fuel compatibility: Steel construction ensures compatibility with all hydrocarbons and can be lined for DEF and JetA/AV Gas applications.
- Environmental responsibility: Made from recyclable steel, supporting sustainability initiatives.
- Customization: Offers low-cost compartments and tailored configurations to meet specific storage needs.
